

BIG BOY ROY (White male, 40s, Supporting Role): A good-natured, slow talking record dealer at a swap meet

EXT. RECORD BOOTH AT SWAP MEET - DAY

Louie has taken up a long drawn-out conversation with the owner, BIG BOY ROY.

BIG BOY ROY

I hear ya. I hear ya. I still operate outta my garage. Never had the dough for a stand-alone establishment myself.

LOUIE

I probably wouldn't have either if I didn't come into some money. That's been about 10 years ago now...

BIG BOY ROY

You don't say.

LOUIE

Well, I tell you Roy, we are out here looking for a 7-inch that's been really elusive. Band's name is Five Man Trio.

BIG BOY ROY

They country?

LOUIE

No no, seems like garage rock. Mid 60s.

BIG BOY ROY

Ah. Name's not setting off any alarm bells. Was it a trio? Or a 5-man outfit?

LOUIE

That would be 5.

BIG BOY ROY

Uh-huh. Uh-huh. You know for a long time I held onto all that stuff from Gover's. Some really great stuff. The Modds and Rayburn. A lotta flack from Missouri too. But Five Man Trio... Can't place it...
